

Killa Negress, Then Himself.
Houston: At midnight Monday night Amella Cox, a negress known as Dot Lehman, was instantly killed by Eugene C. Payne, a well known real estate dealer here, who then turned the weapon on himself, sending two bullets through his own brain. There is no reason given. Payne was a widower, with a son living in Mississippi. The woman's relatives live in Morgan City, La.

Mrs. Fannie Perkins died last Saturday morning early, at the home of her mother in Irving, Mrs. Medker. Mrs. Perkins had been sick for some weeks, but the immediate cause of her death was a congestive chill. The remains were buried Monday at the Sowers cemetery; Uncle Jack Lucas conducting the services. The deceased leaves a husband and four children—three girls and one boy. It is one of the sad incidents of life's journey to see a mother called from the care of her young children, and much sympathy goes out from Irving citizens to these orphan ones:

Found Her Husband's Body.

Bonham: Hugh J. Pierce, a prominent railroad man here, died at his home Tuesday afternoon from wounds inflicted with a shotgun. His wife was in another room and heard the reports of the gun, but as a strong wind was blowing she thought a door had shut. she went to the room shortly afterwards and found her husband's dead body on the floor. Pierce had been in the employ of the Texas and Pacific here for eighteen years.
