Market Creator Dies At 77

METZ, France (UPI) -- Robert Schumann, 77, former French premier and European unity pioneer whose "Schumann Plan" paved the way for the Common Market, died in his home near here Wednesday after a long illness.

Schumann, a lean, wry bachelor often referred to as "Mr. Europe," had been ill since January, 1961, when he suffered a stroke while on a solitary walk through the wintry countryside near his home. He suffered a second stroke a month ago.

A family spokesman said Schumann died in nearby Scy-Chazelle, the eastern French town where he had long made his home.

A member of the Catholic Popular Republican party (MRP), Schumann served twice as premier of France, was foreign minister in several postwar governments and served in parliament for 43 years. But he was best known for his pioneer efforts to create a unified Europe.

Hefty Cook Confesses To Killing

LAREDO (UPI) -- A surly 230-pound short order cook, arrested trying to outrace police to the Mexican border, admitted Wednesday he brutally beat a teen-age Dallas housewife and shot her to death.

The 19-year-old cook, Carl J. Hackathorn, was arrested Tuesday night by Laredo police and U.S. Border Patrol agents after he wrecked the victim's car. Hackathorn was charged with murder in Dallas.

He was accused of beating Mrs. Bobbie Smith, 18, then shooting her three times above the left ear with a 22-caliber pistol. Her body was found in a weed-grown alley Tuesday.

The woman's cold, crying 26-month-old daughter was found about the same time in the cab of a parked truck nearby. The child, Teresa Anna, was holding a half-filled bottle of milk, shivering and pointing down a street and saying "Mama."

Capt. Will Fritz of the Dallas Homicide Bureau said Hackathorn told him he does not know why he killed Mrs. Smith.

Hackathorn's greasy blood-stained jacket was draped over the body. He told Fritz he had been drinking before the killing.

Former Lt. Gov
John Smith Dies

BY LAWRENCE LEE
Smith was an unsuccessful candidate for governor in 1946 in one of the bitterest campaigns in state history.
A champion of rural education in Texas, Smith died at a Lubbock hospital after a long illness. He had been operated on for cancer on May 20.
Smith served as lieutenant governor under former Gov. Coke Stevenson from 1944 to 1947.
Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Friday at the Church of the Nazarene in Lubbock for the former supreme chancellor of the Knights of Pythias in the United States and Canada.
Smith got his first taste of politics in 1920 when he became Throckmorton County Judge at the age of 26. In 1927 he became a member of the State Board of Education and waged a strong fight to improve rural education.
He re-entered politics in 1940, winning a seat in the state Senate. The next year he ran for lieutenant governor to succeed Stevenson who became governor when W. Lee O'Daniel resigned to become U.S. senator.
In 1946, Smith joined 13 other candidates in a mad scramble for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. The campaign was a bitter one and was finally settled when Beauford Jester beat former University of Texas President Homer P. Rainey in a runoff and then went on to win the general election.

Under Care Here

Free on writ of habeas corpus and $3500 bond, a slender, 37-year-old mother is under treatment at Professional Center Hospital, while Dallas police probe the fatal shooting of her husband.

Mrs. Johnnie Sue Stark, formerly of Irving, was booked for investigation of murder after the early Monday morning violence which ended in the death of her husband, B. J. (Bill) Stark.

The couple and their three children -- aged 8, 9, 11 -- resided at 1503 Brookhollow Dr. in eastern Irving before moving to Dallas several weeks ago. Stark was a pharmacist, while his wife was a medical saleswoman.

"Dennis Brewer, Irving attorney representing Mrs. Stark," told the News. Texan that Mrs. Stark is being treated for head injuries and multiple bruises as well as for emotional strain.

"She is terribly upset, naturally," the attorney commented. "Her children have been taken to Perryton to stay with relatives ... a private nurse has been obtained to assist with Mrs. Stark."

Mrs. Stark told police that she had been threatened with a pistol prior to the fatal shooting. Police found her husband lying on a bathroom floor in their Dallas home. Four bullets had entered his body.

Mrs. Stark was released from custody on a writ of habeas corpus issued by Dist. Judge J. Frank Wilson, who said, "No charges have been filed in the case as yet."

Infant Found Dead

Ten-month-old Jeffrey Brant Steele was pronounced dead on arrival at the Professional Center shortly after 2 p.m., Saturday, by attending physician Dr. E. A. Austin.

Dallas Justice of the Peace W. E. (Bill) Haggard made the official announcement of accidental death by electrocution about an hour after the infant was transferred to the Gilbert Clinic.

The child, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Steele, the North Nursery, was found by his parents on the floor in the kitchen of the home between the gas stove and the electric refrigerator about 2:15 p.m.

An uncle of the child, Adolph Crouch, 911 Sowers, whom the parents called when the child was discovered, told the News Texan the parents were preparing for a backyard barbecue and the father had noticed the child lying on the floor but thought he was asleep. After the parents had gone back into the home, they noticed a discoloration of the child's skin and picked him up from the floor.

When found, the child was lying in a 14-inch space between the stove and refrigerator.

Investigating officer John McCabe said the child apparently touched the back of the refrigerator and grounded himself on the nearby stove.

Last Rites Held For Baby, Shock Victim

Funeral services were held Monday morning at 11 a.m. in Waxahachie for ten-month-old Jeffrey Brent Steele of Irving.

The infant, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Steele of 318 N. Nursery, was pronounced dead on arrival at the Professional Center Saturday afternoon about 2:30 p.m. by attending physician Dr. Dma Mae Austin.

Dallas Justice of the Peace W. E. (Bill) Richtburg held an inquest an hour later and ruled that the child's death was accidental due to electrocution.

The family had moved here recently from Waxahachie. The father, 26, was employed with Texas Rubber Supply in Dallas. They have two other children, Richard Glenn, 7, and Cathryn Joanne, 4.

Boze-Mitchell Funeral Home of Waxahachie was in charge of arrangements.

The child was rushed to Professional Center Saturday by his father after he was found lying on the kitchen floor between a gas range and an electric refrigerator. An uncle, Adolph Crouch, told the News Texan the family was preparing for a backyard barbecue and they didn't take the child out to the yard because they thought he was asleep. After the parents had gone back into the home, they noticed a discoloration of the child's skin and picked him up from the floor.

Investigating officer John McCabe said the child apparently touched the back of the refrigerator and grounded himself on the nearby range. Only visible mark of electrocution of the child was a one-inch electrical burn below the right elbow. Premature discoloration of the body was apparent also.
Stegall

Funeral services are pending for Glynn Stegall of Washington, D.C., the brother of an Irving woman and an aide to Vice-President Lyndon Johnson.

Stegall became ill while on a golf course and died soon after returning home Saturday apparently of a heart attack. He was a native of Navarro County, Tex., and was employed in a Graham, Tex., bank until 1933 when he went to Washington as a secretary in the office of the former Rep. W. O. McMillan, a Democrat of Texas.

In 1958 he became a staff member in the office of the late Sen. Morris Sheppard, also a Texas Democrat, serving there until Sheppard's death in 1941. When Johnson took the late senator's seat in 1942, Stegall joined Johnson's staff.

He had been an assistant to Vice-President Johnson and a member of Johnson's staff since 1942. He was 59.

He is survived by his wife, Mildred; three sisters, Mrs. R. C. Martin of Irving, Mrs. Marvin McCluskey of Graham and Mrs. Troy Ikard of Ft. Worth; one brother, Frank Stegall of Sacramento, Calif.

Funeral services and burial will be in Graham at a time to be set later.

Three Workmen Killed, Two Other Men Injured

GROTON, Conn. (UPI) -- A flash fire Tuesday swept a section of the atomic attack submarine Flahsor, sister ship of the ill-fated Thresher, trapping and killing three workmen cramped in the submarine's aft ballast tanks. Two other men were injured.

The fire took place at the General Dynamics' Electric Boat yard where the Flahsor, named for the submarine that sank the most Japanese tonnage in World War II, is under construction.

The tragedy came less than a month after the atomic submarine Thresher failed to make it back to the surface after a deep dive 220 miles off Cape Cod in the Atlantic and sank to the bottom with 117 men aboard.

The men killed were identified as Lawrence W. Stimson, 20, Waterford, Conn.; Joseph R. Bussenski, 28, Coventry, R.I.; and Donald C. Jordan, 27, of Groton.

Jordan and Bussenski were painters and Stimson was employed as an apprentice painter.

The two injured men were Joseph Fusczyk, 33, West Warwick, R.I., a painter, and John D. Galluccio, 24, West-
One Dead, Five Hurt

Two major traffic accidents left one area resident dead and five injured over the weekend.

Mrs. Maggle Stone, of Rt. 1, Frisco, Texas, died Sunday night after the car driven by her husband and a pick-up driven by John Allen Petts, Rt. 1, Coppell, hit head-on north of Highway 114 on Belt Line.

All three were taken to Parkland Hospital after the mid-morning collision. Stone was listed in critical condition Monday, and Petts in fair.

At 5 p.m. Sunday a car driven by Dale Collett Rush was attempting to turn into the driveway at 603 E. Sixth as a car driven by Spyros J. Papageorgion struck it from behind.

Mrs. Rush was taken to the Professional Center with back and neck injuries, and Oliva Tevis, 1206 Arrowhead, was treated for multiple glass cuts on her face. She was riding in the car with Papageorgion.
