BUS WRECK

Three Irving residents died June 5, 1980, in a bus wreck in northern Arkansas which claimed the lives of 20 Dallas area senior citizens on a sightseeing tour.

Elizabeth Jacobs, 73, Nancy Jacobs, 46, and A.G. Pate, all of Irving, died in the wreckage when the bus skidded through a curve and tumbled down a cliff.

Several weeks investigation showed the accident was caused when the brakes failed on a steep curve on Highway 7 about a mile south of Jasper, Ark. Thirteen others, including four Irving residents, were injured in the crash.

An $8 million suit is still pending against Central Bus Line, filed by wreck survivor and wife of one of those killed, Lelia Pate of Irving.
