Two teens indicted in slayings

Capital murder: First trial is April 12

Each charged with four counts of
Accused can get fair trial, his attorney says
Jury: Selection process is expected to be lengthy

San Miguel, 19, and Jerome Mike Green, 17, each were indicted in February on four counts of capital murder. Prosecutors have said they decided to try San Miguel first because they believe he was the "triggerman."

Jury selection in the first of four trials for San Miguel is expected to take as long as six weeks, meaning the trial likely would start in June. If convicted, the two face the death penalty.

San Miguel’s first trial will be for the killing of Michael Phelan, the manager of Taco Bell.

In early April, 800 jurors were called, according to court records. Potential jurors filled out questionnaires, which the lawyers then sorted through to begin the long search for their 12 people.

On Monday, the lawyers began final selection in Judge Harold Entz’s 194th District Court. The two sides are individually questioning the prospective jurors, and each side has 15 strikes.

The process is expected to be lengthy because the jurors are being questioned individually. Plus, it is unlikely that more than one of every five or 10 candidates will be satisfactory to both sides, according to Gray.

Toby Shook, the assistant district attorney trying the case, refused to comment on the jury-selection process for the trial.

However, during questioning of jurors he pointed out that Texas leads the nation in the number of executions carried out and said the death penalty is the prosecution’s goal in this case.

San Miguel and Green were arrested when two Irving police officers stopped them on suspicion of drunken driving near the Taco Bell.

An officer spotted a Taco Bell takeout sack stuffed with cash lying on the seat of the vehicle, which was driven by San Miguel, and police began checking Irving’s Taco Bells, according to reports.

At the Airport Freeway restaurant, police found Phelan, two other employees — Frank Fraga and his 16-year-old cousin Teresa Fraga, who was six months pregnant — and Son Truong Nguyen shot to death in the freezer. Nguyen had stopped at the Taco Bell to take Teresa Fraga home, police said.

According to court records, San Miguel and Green, who were wearing ski masks, waited at the back door of the restaurant until Frank and Teresa Fraga carried out the trash.

After they were arrested, both suspects gave voluntary, written confessions to police, court records said.

Julie Pierce, First Christian associate, dies of injuries

Julie Pierce, 29, who had been serving as an associate minister at First Christian Church while completing her seminary work, died Tuesday in Dallas.

Miss Pierce was injured in an automobile accident in Oklahoma on June 9 while on the way to her parents' house in Putnam City. The family was scheduled to leave on vacation, said her sister, Donna Cartwright.

Miss Pierce's duties at First Christian were in the areas of church education and pastoral care, said the Rev. Terry White, First Christian minister. She was to enter her third and final year at Texas Christian University's Brite Divinity School this fall, with plans to spend the fall semester as a special student at a Washington, D.C., divinity school, Cartwright said.

She was an accomplished musician, playing clarinet, bass clarinet and the piano, among other instruments. At age 16, she played in New York's Carnegie Hall as a member of the American Youth Symphony Orchestra; later, she played in the Aspen Music Festival in Colorado.

After graduating with honors from Putnam City High School in 1979, she graduated with honors from Oklahoma City University in 1984 with a degree in music education. She then spent two years in Japan as a missionary for the Disciples of Christ Church, teaching conversational English to kindergartners through 12-graders and giving music lessons, Cartwright said.

Miss Pierce returned home for six months before spending six more months with the Asian Rural Institute in northern Japan.

She is survived by her parents, Don and Peggy Pierce of Oklahoma City, Okla.; two sisters and brothers-in-law, Donna and Randy Cartwright of Mississippi and Mary Kaye and Ken McNees of Colorado; a brother, Danny Pierce of Oklahoma; one niece and three nephews.

A memorial service will be held at 10 a.m. Friday at First Christian Church in Irving and at 1 p.m. Saturday at Village Christian Church in Oklahoma City, Okla. Local arrangements were made by Ben F. Brown Funeral Home.

'Blood feud' suspect arrested

A 36-year-old suspect in a "blood feud" that spilled over into Irving from El Salvador was arrested at 12:39 p.m. Wednesday after police received a tip that he would be in the area.

Murder charges are pending against Francisco Fredis Amaya of El Salvador, who was arrested by Irving officers as he stepped from his car at 3321 Willow Creek Drive, said Capt. T.J. Hall, head of the criminal investigation division.

Amaya is a suspect in the Sept. 4, 1990, slaying of 22-year-old Salvadoran Jose Portillo, who was found dead in a car in the parking lot of 504 N. O'Connor Road. Hall said Portillo had been shot several times with a 22-caliber rifle.

At the scene of the arrest, Hall said Amaya claimed to be someone else, but he was identified using fingerprints, which matched those found at the scene of the murder.

Amaya had been in Houston and had just returned to Irving, where police were holding a warrant for his arrest, Hall said.

The feud began in El Salvador, Hall said, when Portillo allegedly shot a relative of Amaya's.
