Man crushed by trailer dies

By REGINA STEFFEN
News Staff Writer

A 35-year-old Sanger man was killed Monday evening when he was crushed between two trailers as he was hitching one of the trailers to a tractor at the trucking firm where he worked.

Police said David Otis Hundley, an employee at Roadway Express, 200 N. Belt Line Road, was working when he became trapped.

“At the time of the accident, he was standing between two trailers,” said TPD Sgt. Rupert Ray. “One trailer was hitched to the tractor and he was trying to hitch the second trailer to that one, when apparently the tractor rolled back and pinned him between the two trailers.”

There were no eyewitnesses to the accident, but Hundley was found by a fellow employee who immediately called police and paramedics, Ray said.

Hundley was declared dead at the scene.

Police did a complete equipment check to see if the tractor was malfunctioning, but they found no equipment failure, Ray said.

Hundley’s wife was notified of his death by employees of Roadway Express.

Ola Jackson of the personnel department at Roadway Express described Hundley, who came to work with the company in August 1990, as someone who was always in a good mood.

“He loved hunting and fishing and small-town, country-type life,” Jackson said. “He worked out here to make a living.”

Although Hundley’s death was investigated by traffic investigators, since it is by definition a motor vehicle accident, it will not be carried on the city’s statistics of traffic fatalities because the accident occurred on property that is not accessible to the general public, Ray said.

Services for Mr. Hundley are scheduled for 10 a.m. Thursday at Donnelly’s Colonial Chapel in Irving, with burial at 1 p.m. at Cottage Hill Cemetery in Celina.
