Flight from police costs man his life

A 24-year-old man died Tuesday evening and a 31-year-old Irving man remains in serious condition after the car the two men were in struck a light pole while being chased by Irving police early Monday morning on Belt Line Road.

Josez Salgado, of Dallas, a passenger in the vehicle, died at about 6 p.m. at Parkland Memorial Hospital. Steve Shafer, of Irving, the driver of the vehicle, was in serious condition Wednesday morning at Parkland Memorial Hospital.

According to police, two Irving police officers spotted Shafer and Salgado in a 1988 white four-door Mercury Sable traveling southbound in the northbound lane of the 3400 block of Belt Line Road between Country Club Drive and Northgate Drive.

"They were going the wrong way; they were on the wrong side of the road," said David Tull, public information officer with the Irving Police Department. "The officers drove by and when they turned around, the men saw the officers and floored it."

Police said the speed the car was traveling at is estimated at 70 mph.

While the police officers were attempting to catch up to them, their car struck a light pole in the median of Belt Line Road on the north side of Northgate Drive, reports said.

"Excessive speed and alcohol are believed to be factors in the accident," Tull said.

There was heavy damage to the vehicle because of the speed the car was traveling at the time of the collision, police said.

No arrests have been made, but police are still conducting an investigation.
