Minnie Earlene (Hamner) Harris

December 8, 1919 – March 27, 2005

Some people leave this life without much notice; while others leave a vast emptiness that can never be filled. Earlene is one of those people.

Born in Iowa Park, Texas, she was best known as "Squirt" to her friends and "Tig" to her father. Life took her to Los Angeles California where she worked with her mother-in-law who was a custom gown designer to the likes of Lena Horn, Sheila McRay, Gracie Allen, Mrs. Nat Cole and Mrs. Xavier Kugat. She also worked for Northrup Aircraft during the war where she "bucked rivits." I'm reminded of the World War II posters of Rosie the Rivitor.

Earlene lived alternately in Dallas and Los Angeles until 1959 when she returned to Texas to stay. Earlene lived for a while in Granbury where she owned and restored a turn of the century historic home. The house, known as Carmichael House, brought her many hours of labor and joy. While she was restoring the house, she was also collecting antiques with which to fill it. Gathering antiques took her on trips to North Carolina, Missouri and Kansas but the result was a beautifully restored Victorian home where Earlene hosted weddings and receptions for local residents.

Her last move was to Irving. Once settled, she and her son Jeffrey toured Europe. She loved to travel and often visited family in Missouri and Oklahoma. She retired from Texas Instruments/Raytheon Credit Union in 1989 but continued to work on an on-call basis. Just after her retirement she traveled through the south and up the east coast for three weeks visiting and exchanging research work with extended family. This is when she learned of her relation to the writer of the TV series, The Waltons. Those stories and characters were based on her Hamner ancestors.

Earlene was a charter member of the Irving Genealogical Society and served the society through the years as secretary and treasurer. She had learned through her research that people are more than just dates and places of birth and death, yet that is often how we are labeled. She had a great love and respect for those that came before her.

Prior to her final illness she was a lively, vibrant individual held back only by physical limitations. She wanted desperately to work in the garden or travel, but instead collected recipes on her computer and watched her beloved Rangers, Mavericks and Cowboys on TV.

Earlene was preceded in death by her son in 1995. She often told me that we are not suppose to outlive our children. A part of her died with Jeffrey.

Now, as I drive through her neighborhood, I feel an emptiness...an unusual quiet, like something is missing. Something IS missing...our friend Squirt.

DR. OSWALD HOFFMANN

Renowned religious broadcasting pioneer and Protestant church leader, the Rev. Dr. Oswald C.J. Hoffmann, died Sep. 8, 2005 in St. Louis, Missouri, after a brief illness. He was 91.

For more than 33 years (1955–1988), Dr. Hoffmann was a Sunday radio institution with his broadcasts of The Lutheran Hour until his retirement in 1988. On behalf of The Lutheran Hour and the United Bible Society, Dr. Hoffmann traveled extensively all over the world, meeting with and sharing Christ with people.

Ordained a Lutheran minister in 1939, Dr. Hoffmann served the church as a religious leader and ambassador. He served his Lord and Savior for nearly 70 years in a career that included varied roles as an author, pastor, broadcaster, classical and linguistics scholar, teacher, translator, public relations director, film production advisor, and member of various organizational boards. He was the author of magazine articles, eight books and thousands of sermons. Dr. Hoffmann was also a consultant and friend to foreign dignitaries, U.S. presidents (including presidents Eisenhower, Kennedy, and Nixon), and world religious leaders, including the Rev. Billy Graham.

Dr. Hoffmann spent the early years of his career as an instructor and professor at Bethany College in Mankato, Minnesota; the University of Minnesota in Minneapolis—St. Paul; and Concordia College Institute in Bronxville, New York. In 1948, he helped found The Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod (LCMS) Department of Public Relations in New York City and served as its director until 1963.

Dr. Hoffmann was appointed speaker of The Lutheran Hour in 1955. During his career with the Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod and Lutheran Hour Ministries, he was instrumental in pioneering several successful media ventures, including the This is the Life weekly television drama. He also hosted and narrated a five-hour television mini-series, Yeshua, which focused on the life and times of Jesus Christ.

He is survived by his children, the Rev. Peter (Elaine) Hoffmann of Chicago, Illinois, the Rev. Paul (Jane) Hoffmann of San Jose, California, Katharine Ann (Brian) Bates of Pearland, Texas, and John Hoffmann of Kirkwood, Missouri, and also by ten grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren. His wife of 60 years, Marcia Hoffmann, preceded him in death in November 2000.

A memorial service for Dr. Hoffmann will be held Sep. 16 at 11 a.m. at Concordia Lutheran Church in Kirkwood, Missouri. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to Lutheran Hour Ministries or Concordia Lutheran Church, Kirkwood, Missouri, in Dr. Hoffmann’s honor.
