Man shot to death while using ATM

A man was fatally shot early Wednesday as he was making a transaction at an automated teller machine in Fort Worth’s Stop Six neighborhood. Police were questioning three suspects and searching for another in connection with the crime. Investigators said the incident apparently started about 1 a.m. at the Chase bank branch at Loop 820 and Ramey Avenue when two men drove up to the ATM and the passenger got out to use the machine. Four men in a white Honda pulled up and tried to rob the victim at the ATM. He was shot in the abdomen; the suspects fled. The other bank customer called for help. Dwight Rochon, 46, was taken to John Peter Smith Hospital, where he was pronounced dead. A vehicle matching the description of the suspects’ car was stopped at Loop 820 and 15th Street. The four occupants fled, but two men and a woman were captured. They were being questioned by police Wednesday.
