Joan Brett May 24, 1931 - December 28, 2011 Don Brett January 23, 1928 - January 16, 2012 They are not dead, Who leave us this great heritage of remembering joy. They still live in our hearts, In the happiness we knew, in the dreams we shared. They still breathe in the lingering fragrance from their favorite flowers. They still smile in the moonlight's silver, and laugh in the sunlight's sparkling gold. They still speak in the echoes of the words we've heard them say again and again. They still move in the rhythm of waving grasses. They are not dead; Their memory is warm in our hearts, comfort in our sorrow. Sandra Sue Brown
July 28, 1935 - December 25, 2011

Graduated in 1956 from the University of Oklahoma with a bachelor’s degree in education and a minor in French.
Taught school in Venezuela for Phillips Oil company.
Received master’s degree from the University of Oklahoma in psychology
Fluent in 3 languages (Russian, French & Spanish).
Married Charles Dean Fisher in 1960 and had Dean in May of 1961. She was married to Charles Dean Fisher until his death in late 1960
She was influential in the beginnings of a multiple of special education programs for the Stephens County School District before moving to Irving, Texas in 1986 and working as an elementary school counselor for the Irving ISD.
Wrote a children’s book called “sunkissed kitty learns to say no”, dealing with kids saying no to drugs.
Upon her retirement in 1998 she and Conger returned to Oklahoma and the home that her parents, Everett & Velma Kincaid, built in 1956 on lake Texoma at Soldier Creek where she loved to fish and spent many an hour in her boathouse chasing the lake record.
She was grandmother to Taylor and Adam Brown of Fort Worth, Texas, Bert and Steven Brown of Dillon, Montana, Ryan, Mike and Lisa Brown of Denver, Colorado and Tulsa, Oklahoma and Jake
William Edgar Brown, Jr., 91, passed away on October 10, 2011 in Cedar Hill, Texas. He was born on October 08, 1920 to William Edgar “Billy” and Tommie Faye (Cook) Brown in the Estelle Community of Irving, Texas. Edgar attended the Estelle Community School and Irving High School. Because of his intelligence and perseverance for an education, he was double promoted twice and had perfect attendance all through his school years. He graduated from high school at the age of 15 in 1935. He then attended North Texas Mechanical College, now the University of Texas Arlington. Following college, he served in the United States Navy. Upon discharge from the Navy, he began working at S.H. Lynch & Co. in sales and service of coin operated record players, or “juke boxes” as they were called. After a few years, he formed a partnership with H.D. Pinkerton called Brown and Pinkerton for the operation of coin-operated Seeburg “juke boxes” in cafes and restaurants. When “Pinkie” left, Edgar formed Music Supply Company and supplied background music (think elevators) and office communications for stores and office buildings. After supplying communications systems for major southwestern U.S. shopping centers for a number of years, he slowed the pace for retirement and changed the company to a mail order company selling tools and aids for installation, many of which he designed and patented. In the 1990’s he spent two years in libraries copying addresses from major U.S. cities’ yellow pages to develop a customer base. Music Supply Company continues today, under another owner, using that basic list and, of course, the internet. Edgar became a baptized believer when he was about 28 years old, while attending Cedar Crest Church of Christ in Dallas, Texas. He served as a deacon with much zeal. He was asked, along with 3 other families to go to the west part of Dallas and plant a church there. It was named West Illinois Church of Christ (now Mountain View Church of Christ). He served as elder there for about 20 years. He later moved to Cockrell Hill Church of Christ on Jefferson Blvd. in Oak Cliff, where he served for many years. His plea was to teach the bible to the Hispanics and Blacks in the area. He loved the Sunday lunches where there was always a varied group of people serving and fellowshipping together. He became very interested in health and he co-wrote, along with his daughter, Kaye Behrens, a book called Your Body’s Response in 1985, about how to test oneself for allergies. He was a founder of the Estelle Historical Society, now part of the Irving Historical Society, and he was very active with the Irving Archives and Historical Society. Because of his efforts, there is now a historical marker on the grounds where the Estelle Community School was. Edgar was a man of great faith and strong morals – one of the last of “the greatest generation” that Tom Brokaw wrote about in his book. He was very respected and loved by his wife, children and grandchildren and other relatives and friends. Edgar was preceded in death by his parents, William Edgar “Billy” Brown, Sr. and Tommie Faye Brown, daughter, Gail Irenece Brown Holder and husband, Edison Wayne Holder, brother, Joseph Arthur “J.A.” Brown, and sisters, Hazel Tennie Brown Hines, Velma Ozell Brown, Elvie Doris Brown Davis, infant sisters, Ethyl, Gladys and Lorena Brown. He is survived by his loving wife of 70 years, Zuma Elizabeth (Way) Brown of Cedar Hill Texas.
