Dana Olsen-Moore (In Memoriam)

Dana Olsen-Moore In loving memory of my daughter Dana Olsen-Moore, the light of my life went out Feb. 26, 2009. You are in every breath and step I take and every beat of my heart. You were the most precious and best daughter a Mother could ever have. You may be gone, but the love you had for me and I for you will never be gone. Your beautiful face and a smile that would light up a room, the memories that we share, your strength and love of life and courageous spirit give me the strength to get through each day. I am so thankful for my family and my friends who share their love and memories of you with me. She touched so many lives unbeknown to her but are now coming to light. I hold these moments in my heart until the day we meet again, your Mom, Kaye

He was the owner of Phillips 66 Gas Station in Irving from 1955 – 1973. In 1976, he co-founded Ken Murray’s Air Conditioning along with Ken Murray Custom Homes with his son Kenneth Ray Murray, Jr. who survives him. He is preceded in death by his wife Linda Joan Murray in December, 1996, parents L. E. Murray and Juanita Murray Wasson and brother Albert Edwin Murray. Survivors include his daughter Melissa Prior and husband Kyle, and their daughter Monica Thompson, son Bruce Burns and wife Mihaela, their daughter Elianna, and son Michael McCollum and wife Rubi, their children Dylan and Adalyn; son Kenneth Ray Murray, Jr. and wife Melissa, their son Kenneth Ray Murray, III, and daughter Michelle Murray; daughter Melanie Murray and her daughter Brooke; Chris Murray and daughters Kallie and Savannah Murray; brother Benny Murray, wife Barbara. Nephew Paul Murray, wife Leena, and children Gavin and Ryan. Niece Laurie Williamson, husband John. Pops fought the “good fight” right up until his last breath. As hard as it seems at this moment, the family realizes that they are the benefactors of a great man whose legacy will not be forgotten.
