Wadsworth, Richard Richard R. "Dick" Wadsworth, of Irving, passed away Sunday, November 11, 2012. He was born May 30, 1928 in Dallas, to parents Roy Bowie and Lucy Burt Wadsworth. Dick is survived by his sons Rick of Alexandria VA, Randy and Ron of Irving, as well as 6 grandchildren, Trey, Alexis, Jenny, Jeff, Chris, and Chad. Dick was the youngest of 5 children (Roy, Naida, Jack, and Vivian). His father retired from Browning-Ferris in Dallas and bought the old Oak-A Farm at 183 and N. Britain next to the railroad tracks where Dick grew up and "walked the railroad tracks to school and sports activities." He married his high school sweetheart, Beverly McCaslin before he shipped out to serve in WWII. To originally join the war, Dick convinced the Navy he was a year older than he was and memorized the color charts because he was color blind. He went to the Navy's Radio School and basic training in San Diego and shipped out of San Francisco as a radioman on CSV USS Chenango, a support group carrier. His ship and crew were involved on many of the well known battles in the South Pacific. He was honorably discharged and returned home in 1946. After he returned from the South Pacific campaign, he and Bev had their first son Rick on her 19th birthday, in January, 1947. Randy was born in 1950, and Ron in 1953. Beverly passed away in January 2003, just after her 75th birthday. After graduating from Irving High School and attending Arlington State College, Dick became involved with his father in Wadsworth Manufacturing Co. making heavy equipment for road and pipeline construction. He later joined Parker-Ford & Assoc. and became a licensed stock broker. Thereafter, he worked for Ling & Company and A.G. Edwards during his brokerage career then turning to sales with his own advertising specialty company he operated for many years. Dick received his 60 year Masonic Service Award on August 6, 2009 from the Grand Lodge of Texas #1218 A.F. & A.M. and remained a member until his death. Following in his father's footsteps, he joined the Order of the DeMolay then, at 21, was raised a Master Mason. He was an active, committed and proud Free Mason. Continuing his commitment to service, Dick joined the Irving Junior Chamber of Commerce, the JayCeets, taking many responsible positions and advancing the work of the JayCeets throughout the World. He became a State Director and President of the Texas JayCeets. His activity and work continued as National Chaplain of the US JayCeets and an International Senator. Beverly was also involved in the Ladies JayCeeEttes, becoming their State President as well. Dick was a Charter Member of Woodhaven Presbyterian Church in Irving and made sure that his sons were also Charter Members. He has served the church throughout his life as Elder, Clerk of Session, and in many activities in and around the church. Dick touched many lives and many touched him. He was a remarkable husband, father and friend. He was committed to serving his God, family, country and his fellow man. He was a committed patriot and truly part of the Greatest Generation.
