While working for Hitachi in Arlington, TX, Diana met her future husband, Art at a company Christmas party. They were married in Hawaii on February 6, 1998.

Their love of travel led them all over the United States and Europe. Art and Diana were truly kindred spirits when it came to adventure. On September 22, 2004 God blessed their union with a baby girl; Cecily Claire. Diana was a wonderful mother and on January 7, 2012, she and Art were thrilled with the arrival of a second daughter; Sabrina Kate. Diana was completely devoted to her family. The four of them were happiest when they were together. Sundays were all about family and doing the things they loved. They loved the Dallas Cowboys and Dallas Stars and their home was a favorite place of many to watch both teams play.

Diana loved people and her care and concern for them was evident in everything she did. To be her friend was a treasure. She was outspoken but not judgmental and never hurtful; you always knew where you stood with her and you didn't have to see eye-to-eye on everything. Diana was a champion of the underdog even as a child and she always looked for a way to help those less fortunate.
