John Wever Jr.

John Piner Wever, Jr. died peacefully on Thursday, January 22, 2015 at the age of 94 surrounded by family. John was born in Texarkana, Texas on August 21, 1920 to Susie Mae Daniel and John Piner Wever, Sr. He adored his brother Hoskins who was 12 years older. He grew up in New Boston, Texas surrounded by family on every corner. His father was a doctor and owned the pharmacy in New Boston. John says he drove the Buick to school in the first grade!!! John was an Eagle Scout. He went to The University of Texas in Austin to study Chemical Engineering. In his third year at UT, John accompanied his father to New York City for treatment for cancer. They heard the news of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor while in New York. John had completed his third year at UT when he received his draft notice. He joined the army and was assigned to the Chemical Warfare Division. He served in the Pacific Theatre in Sidney, Australia, New Guinea and the Philippines. (When his granddaughter Roxanne had her wedding in Fredericksburg, Texas he was fascinated by the Admiral Nimitz Museum of the Pacific War. His friend Dick Carlson said he wanted to go through the exhibit on New Guinea three times.) After WW II John finished his degree at UT. Then he worked at Red River Arsenal in Texarkana where he hired chemist Bob Schiegg. They decided to start a Chemical Company which became Ecco Chemicals in Dallas, TX. Their partnership and successful company manufacturing industrial cleaning compounds lasted several decades. They developed a product called Third Hand that would clean just about anything. John and Bob were making innovative products in the early days of the car wash business. In his 70's John travelled to Korea and Japan as a consultant to car wash businesses in those countries and enjoyed the culture and friendships that grew out of these relationships. In his 80's John was consulting for Metal Rehab in Arlington. It is easy to see that John loved the chemical business and worked longer than most people because he enjoyed staying busy. On October 20, 1961 John married Martha Sue Criswell Egger and started a new chapter in his life. He was a confirmed bachelor and Martha, a widow, had 2 children, Rod and Debby. John shared his love of animals with his new kids and once they had an Easter chicken that rode back to Dallas on the bumper of his car! There were rabbits, dogs, cats, etc. to follow. The word step father was never used. The Egger family embraced John as one of their own and he loved visiting West Texas and all of the relatives in Martha's family. Everyone loved John because he is just easy to love. He raised Debby and Rod as his own children. They never adopted his name out of respect to their grandparents, Jewel and Alvie Egger who loved John like a son. It is such a tribute to his kind and easy going manner and commitment to family. John was very active in the lives of his new
