

During the COVID-19 outbreak, the City of Irving has policies and protocols in place to help ensure that the safety and health of our employees and the public are maintained.

If an employee is exposed and/or tests positive they are immediately placed on a 14-day quarantine.

The city will then:

- Contact all persons who may have had direct interaction with the employee.
- Aggressively clean and sanitize all facilities, equipment, and work stations the employee frequented.
- Work with the employee and their doctor to ensure they are clear to return to work.

As the city works to maintain a quality of life for residents, the health and well-being of front-line employees is always a top priority. Residents are urged to continue adhering to the Dallas County order to shelter-in-place, follow social-distancing guidelines and practice good hygiene.

Residents should regularly check the city website and social media platforms for updates on the COVID-19 outbreak.
